The Liberation Charter

PREAMBLE

The Southern Cameroons was ruled by the British after the Two World Wars as a protectorate Under the League of Nations and later as a Trusteeship under the United Nations. The present delimitation is construed to reflect the constitution of the nation recognized under international law as a people with a distinct identity. The Southern Cameroons possessed a glorious history that goes beyond colonial configuration and it is one guided by fundamental Rights, Freedom and Democracy prior to its occupation forcefully by the subjugation policy of expansionist La République Du Cameroun on the 1st of October 1961<sup>1</sup>. From that period taking cognizance of La République Du Cameroun's independence on January 1st, 1960; the sun set did begin on the glorious independence of Southern Cameroons<sup>2</sup>

We the peoples of The Southern Cameroons have since then been completely marginalized by the policies of Annexation and Occupation, and the deliberate demographic shift pursued by the occupying regime threatens our identity as a people and set the stage for an internal strife between the rightful owners of the land and the new immigrants. Socio-politico and economically we are exploited, oppressed and suppressed and may soon be facing an identity crisis due to the menacing chauvinism, imperialism of the so-called annexationist attitude of La République Du Cameroun. There is a threat to our language, customs and culture, initiating a cultural genocide through the process of "Franconizing" our language and culture with the intention to minimize us and swallow us wholly. Violation of basic Fundamental Rights occurs with regular frequency through state control secret agencies- Cameroun's security force and the likes of a moron France tele-guided CPDM<sup>3</sup> Government. To effectively codify the Occupation and Annexation of the Southern Cameroons, all the power in the political and economic distinctiveness were craft- fully snatched away from Buea and Southern Cameroonians became slaves in an occupied territory called La République Du Cameroun after 20th May 1972<sup>4</sup>.

At this juncture the members of the Southern Cameroons Youth League are strongly determined and bounded by a solemn promised with self blood to liberate the Southern Cameroons with or without arm struggle for a distinct and independent identity of empowered to pursue its destiny according to its values, and to free the Southern Cameroons from socio politico and economic exploitation, oppression, suppression and neo-colonization.
